NUMBER 6.

HEMMED IN BY BOERS.

The British Troops in the Vicinity of Dundee Are in Very Great Peril.

ATTACK BY ENEMY HAS COMMENCED.

The Boers Number 9,000 Strong, and Further News is Anxiously Awaited by the English People.

British Troops Defeat the Boers Near Glencoe—The English Commander, Gen. French, Also Routed Them at Alandslaagte With Heavy Loss.

GLENCOE CAMP, Oct. 23.—After eight hours of continuous heavy fighting Talann hill was carried by the Dublin Fusiliers and the King's Rifles under cover of a well served artillery fire by the 13th and 69th batteries. The Boers who threatened the British rear have retired.

The fight was almost an exact counterpart of that at Majuba Hill, except that the positions of the Boer and British forces were reversed. Gen. Symons was severely, but not dangerously wounded. He was shot through the thigh, but no bones were broken. He is cheerful.

Although the enemy's position was carried soon after 1 o'clock, scattered firing went on almost all afternoon.

The final rush was made with a triumphant yell, and as the British troops charged to close quarters the enemy turned and fled, leaving all their impediments and guns behind them in their precipitate flight.

LONDON, Oct. 24.—The war office Sunday afternoon published the following: "White, commander in Natal, to the secretary of state for war, filed at Ladysmith, October 21, 10:30 a. m. In the action at Elandslaagte yesterday the troops engaged were the following: Cavalry, 5th Lancers, a squadron of the 4th Dragoon Guards, the Imperial Light horse and two squadrons of Natal carabineers; artillery, 21st field battery, 42nd field battery and the Natal field battery; infantry, the Devonshire regiment, half a battalion of the Gordon Highlanders and the Manchester regiment. The whole force was under Gen. French, with Col. Ian Hamilton commanding the infantry.

"At 3:30 p. m. our guns took a position on a ridge 4,100 yards from the Boers, where guns at once opened fire. This fire was generally well directed, but somewhat high. This time, contrary to previous experiences, their shell burst well.

"The Boer guns, although often temporarily silenced, invariably opened fire again on the slightest opportunity, and were served with great courage. After severe fighting our infantry carried the position. At 6:30 p. m. this was accomplished, the enemy standing his ground to the last with courage and tenacity. The Fifth Lancers and a squadron of the Fifth Dragoon Guards charged three times through the retreating Boers in the dark, doing considerable execution.

"We captured the Boer camp, with tents, wagons, horses, and also two guns. The Boer losses were very considerable, including a number of wounded and unwounded prisoners. Among the former are Gen. Jan Koek and Piet Joubert, nephew of Commandant Gen. Joubert.

"One goods train with supplies for Glencoe camp and nine English prisoners were recovered. Our loss, I regret to say, was heavy. It is roughly computed at 150 killed and wounded.

LONDON, Oct. 24.—Up to midnight the war office was besieged with inquiries, the heavy lists of British losses causing much heartburning. Said a workingman, who was reading the list: "If this is the price of suzerainty, good God, but we are paying in full."

It is regarded as not impossible that Gen. White may yet be compelled to concentrate all the Natal forces at Ladysmith and await the arrival of the army corps.

LONDON, Oct. 24.—Great alarm is felt in London over the position of Gen. Yule and his troops near Glencoe. It is known that his force is surrounded by a large army of Boers, whose fighting strength is estimated at 9,000.

There is no attempt in official circles to conceal the anxiety over the situation. Reference was made to it in parliament by several speakers, and the government is awaiting with grave concern further news from the front.

CAPE TOWN, Oct. 24.—News has been received from Dundee to the effect that the Boer disaster at Elandslaagte staggered the Boers completely, rendering the attack upon Dundee feeble.

SMALL SKIRMISHES.

Several of Them Take Place in the Philippines, in Which the Insurgents Received the Worst of It.

MANILA, Oct. 24.—The insurgents around Calamba and Angeles have bothered the Americans lately with their repeated attacks, like most of the Filipino attacks, consisting of shooting a lot of ammunition into their opponents' camp from long range. Maj. Cheatham's battalion of the 37th infantry, three companies of the 21st infantry, a battery of the 5th artillery and a Gatlin gun sallied out Monday morning from Calamba, drove the Filipinos from their trenches and pursued them for three miles, inflicting heavy loss on them. One American was killed and three were wounded of the 21st infantry.

Lieut. Ferguson, with 20 scouts of the 26th regiment, reconnoitering near Labao, encountered a party of mounted Filipinos. He killed six of them and captured eight, with ten rifles.

Four men from the gunboat Mariavolos were lured ashore, 18 miles from Iloilo by a flag of truce and the insurgents killed one of them, wounded one and captured a third. The gunboat was unable to fire for fear of wounding the Americans.

The 2d battalion of the 19th regiment, Maj. Reece commanding, embarked for Iloilo Monday to reinforce the troops.

MONEY ORDER SYSTEM.

The Annual Report Shows a Large Increase Over Last Year—Orders Drawn in Cuba and Porto Rico.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—The annual report of the money order system of the post office department shows a total issue during the year amounting to $224,958,503, an increase of $20,364,492 over last year. The total earnings of the system, aggregating $1,591,638, show an increase of $395,004. On these orders a war revenue tax of $379,880 was collected. There were 4,390 new money orders of offices added and 22,007,873 domestic and 968,501 international money orders issued. The report shows that while for 30 years past the average amount of each order has decreased, the average during the past year was $7.23, an increase of 40 cents over the previous year. Orders drawn in Cuba and paid here aggregated $2,343,093, and vice versa $55,156; in Porto Rico those drawn for payment here, $400,135, and vice versa, $13,173.

O'BRIEN EXPELLED.

The Parnellite Member for Kilkenny City Ousted From the House of Commons by a Vote of 216 to 26.

LONDON, Oct. 24.—During the course of Monday's proceedings, while the house of commons was discussing the report of the supplementary estimates, Patrick O'Brien, Parnellite member for Kilkenny city, declared that the heads of the British secretary of state for the colonies, Joseph Chamberlain, were as much stained with blood as those of any murderer who ever mounted the scaffold.

The speaker, William Court Culey, called upon Mr. O'Brien to withdraw his remark, but he refused to do so, whereupon the house, by a vote of 310 to 26, resolved to suspend him, and he left the house, remarking: "You had better bring up another army corps, unless you want it somewhere else."

The house then adjourned.

GEN. FUNSTON'S SWORD.

He Says That the Report That He Would Not Accept On Account of the Inscription Is Not True.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 24.—In regard to the report sent out that Gen. Funston would not accept the sword to be presented by the people of Kansas on account of the objectionable inscription, "I can hold this position until my regiment is mustered out," on the blade, said:

"I certainly do not intend to do any such thing. I greatly appreciate the proposed presentation of a sword from the people of my state, and the inscription is one of which I shall always be proud. I can see no reason why any one should imagine that I would not accept the sword with this inscription other than that I had not said the words thus attributed to me. I did say them."

Hot October Weather in Nebraska.

OMAHA, Neb., Oct. 24.—All existing hot weather records for the last ten days in October the past 30 years have been broken in Nebraska during the past three days. Saturday the mercury reached 89 in the shade at 4 p. m.; on Sunday it stood at 88 for four consecutive hours, and Monday the maximum was 88, with a high degree of humidity, which made the heat very hard to bear. The hot wave has been accompanied by a gale from the south.

STATE NEWS HAPPENINGS.

LEXINGTON BATTALION.

Nightly Drills Have Been Ordered—The Impression Is That They May Be Sent to Clay County.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Oct. 22.—The Lexington battalion, Kentucky state guards, reported at the armory Friday evening in reply to a special call from the respective company commanders, who in turn have orders from Col. Williams to drill every night until further orders. Col. Williams received his orders from Adj. Gen. Collier and is not acquainted with their significance. The militiamen have the impression that they are to be sent again to Manchester. Circuit court opens at the Clay county capital next week and in the light of occurrences since the assassination of Tom Baker at the last term of court it is very likely that troops in greater numbers will be necessary to the safety of the court.

PAINFULLY INJURED.

Hon. John Young Brown Fell While Boarding a Train at Litchfield—His Leg Sprained or Broken.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 24.—Hon. John Young Brown was painfully injured at Litchfield Monday night. While in the act of boarding a train, he fell, straining a tendon or fracturing his left leg. The ear was stopped, and brought to this city. He was unable to determine whether or not broken, but thinks so. Gov. Brown left Monday in the didday.

TROOPS

Clay County Circuit Court and State Forces to Move at Once.

LONDON, Ky., Oct. 23.—Clay county circuit court opened Monday at Manchester. The feudists, Eddy and Boyd Chadwell and Sol. Tom and Jim Griffin will be tried for the killing of Deputy Wash Thacker, of the Philpot faction. Gov. Bradley has troops in readiness to go to the protection of the court immediately upon request of the judge. Since the last term of court 20 men and one woman have been shot, and there are only four indictments.

Took Winchester to Court.

LONDON DEPOT, Ky., Oct. 24.—Court convened at Manchester Monday morning for the trial of the Clay county feudists. All factions were on hand, heavily armed. The records of evidence against James and Sol Griffin, who are in jail there, charged with the murder of Deputy Sheriff Wash Thacker, have been stolen from the county judge's office. It is believed this was done by the Griffin faction to prevent indictments being returned by the grand jury. About 60 of the Philpot faction armed with Winchester were on hand to prosecute the Griffin.

Got Only the Child.

PADUCAH, Ky., Oct. 24.—Mrs. J. C. Nixon, of Hopkinsville, ran away from her husband and came to this city Monday morning with another man and her 3-year-old child. The husband came down on a later train and rescued the child, the mother refusing to return. The alleged man in the case very discreetly made himself scarce.

Farm Hand Charged With Murder.

MURKINSVILLE, Ky., Oct. 23.—Deputy Sheriff John E. Hubbard arrested and lodged in jail here George Davis, who lived on the farm of Mrs. Shipp, who, with her grandson, was murdered Monday night. Blood was found on his clothing. He claims that he got it there while possum hunting. Two other men who are suspected are being pursued.

Fine Against Henshaw Affirmed.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Oct. 22.—In court of appeals Friday in the case of Jerome B. Henshaw, the Covington poolroom man, a decision was rendered affirming a judgment of the Kenton circuit court imposing a fine of $1,000.

GREENUP, Ky., Oct. 20.—C. & O. freight No. 72 made a wreck here Wednesday morning of a car loaded with shelled corn, tearing off its trucks. Traffic was delayed.

New Kentucky Post Office.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—A post office has been established at Chaney, Taylor county, Ky., with U. H. Sullivan as postmaster.

DOUBLE MURDER.

Mrs. Sis Pepper, an Aged Woman and Her Grandson, Killed Evidently for the Purpose of Robbery.

HODGENSVILLE, Ky., Oct. 21.—News of a cold-blooded double murder, evidently committed for the sole purpose of robbery, has reached this city from Lynn Camp creek, Hart county. Mrs. Sis Pepper, an aged woman of that neighborhood, and her grandson, a boy named Hudgins, are the victims. They had been dead nearly two days when discovered, and their mangled bodies had been lying out in the yard, where they had been thrown by the murderers. The deed was committed with an ax and Mrs. Pepper had been chopped almost to pieces.

Has Hydrophobia.

DIXON, Ky., Oct. 24.—A. W. Mooney, the postmaster at Dixon, Ky., is dying from hydrophobia. He was bitten by a mad dog over four years ago and immediately had the wound cauterized. Mr. Mooney was kept in fear for months that he would have the hydrophobia and kept a loaded pistol at his side all the time, his intention being to end his life upon the appearance of any symptoms of madness. The symptoms did not appear until a few days ago, and the physicians say it will be impossible to save the man's life. Mr. Mooney is 50 years old and has been postmaster of Dixon for a number of years.

At Liberty for an Hour.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Oct. 22.—Ike Smith, of Lexington, a convict in the state penitentiary here, enjoyed a short period of freedom Friday night. He escaped over the walls of the institution at 1 o'clock and was captured an hour later by Warden Punch. Smith had served 10 years for

Col. Chesnut to Wed.

Revenue Agent Transferred.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 23.—David Gates, internal revenue agent for the Kentucky district, has been transferred to the Atlanta district, where he will have charge of Alabama, Georgia and Florida. He is succeeded by Agent W. W. Yates, of Pennsylvania.

Brothers' Fatal Quarrel.

WINCHESTER, Ky., Oct. 23.—At Ford Jerry Taylor and Joe Taylor, brothers, and colored, fought, and Joe was disarmed by Jerry with a pocket knife. The wound is fatal. Jerry fled and has not been apprehended. A dispute over the prop way to raise children caused the trouble.

Another Receiver Appointed.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—The controller of the currency Friday appointed James B. Ross, of Union City, Ind., receiver of the First national bank of Newport, Ky., to take the place of G. B. Wilshire, the present receiver who resigned.

Obscene Literature Through the Mail.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 23.—Harry D. Williams has been arrested, charged with sending obscene literature through the mails. The literature in question consisted of medical advertisements.

Threatened With a Cow-ding.

PADUCAH, Ky., Oct. 24.—Ed Hyede, aged 60, was arrested here Monday while, it is alleged, he was trying to elope with 12-year-old Sallie Brown. The couple came from Princeton, Ky., and were arrested before being wedded. The irate parents of the girl threaten the aged man with a cow-ding when he gets back to Princeton.

Inauguration Date Fixed.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Oct. 21.—Assistant Secretary of State Wood is piled with letters asking the date of the inauguration of the next governor. It is with narrow-souled people as with narrow-necked bottles—the less they have in them, the more noise they make in pouring it out.

BRYAN says: "I would risk the alienation of every friend I have in Kentucky rather than use my voice against principles dearer than my own life."

BROWN is shrieking "pusillanimous scoundrels and cowardly liars!"—the last resort of baffled treason, impotent malice, nancy, and morally wounded vanity.

THE general claim of Goebel managers is 10,000 or 11,000 plurality in Louisville and Jefferson county. Should that prediction come true, added to Acting Chairman Smith's plurality of 21,000 in the State, it would make Goebel's total plurality 21,000, or 22,000.

JUDGE MORROW in a speech for the Republican ticket, at Albany, a few days ago, said: "It can be said to the credit of Mr. Goebel that he is honest, sober and a man of ability." Because of the utterance of this truth, the Paragon feels itself called upon in a lengthy editorial to apologize for Judge Morrow telling it. Curious?
—[Home Journal.]

SOME of the speakers of the county are saying that if we pass the Chinn Book Bill that we will have inferior books; that the print will be so fine that the children can't study them, and the leaves will be like the common wrapping paper found upon the counters of our stores. These speakers surely don't know that it costs more to set small type for a book than large type; and that book paper is about as cheap as a good quality of wrapping paper.

The seven Commissioners appointed for their "scholarly attainments and business like qualifications" together with the Superintendent of Public Instruction meet and have the various books to be adopted right before them, which they closely examine, both print and quality, before adopting them; then, when the book is adopted, that sample is filed away with a $10,000 bond that the publishing house will make every book sent out like the sample; in every respect, which you see at once, insures good books. My Republican friend are you not in favor of a law to reduce the price of a First Reader from 17cts to 10cts; of a History from $1.00 to 75 cts; of a Complete Geography from $1.35 to 85 cts? Are you not in favor of a law that will save you money as a buyer of school books for your children? Such a law has proved a great help to the people of Tennessee, Virginia, Texas and Indiana. If you want to save money by buying your books, vote for Senator Goebel.

In 1895, during the State campaign, Gov. Bradley promised and solely pledged to the voters of this State that the Republicans would do four things if elected, viz: 1st. They would reduce your taxes. 2nd. That they would show from the books at Frankfort that the people were daily robbed by the Democrats. 3rd. That they would increase the school per capita. 4th. That they would abolish the State Board of Equalization. Now no Republican can truthfully say these four pledges were not made. Have they fulfilled a single pledge? Did they reduce your taxes? In '95, the year that the Democrats went out of power, your State tax was 42½c now it is 52½c, just 10 cents higher, yet they promised to lower them. Did they show that the people were robbed? No! but upon the other hand the records were clear and clean and every dollar properly accounted for. They therefore, failed in their second pledge. Have they increased the school per capita? The last year the Democrats were in power the school per capita was $2.80; the very next year under the Republicans it dropped down to $2.20.
This year it is $2.70; which you readily see is yet lower than we had it. Yet they promised they would make it higher. They have never made an attempt to abolish the State Board of equalization as they said they would do. No honest, truthful Republican can deny what we say: Can you vote for a party that failed to carry out these four pledges, yea even to carry out a single one? Stop, my Republican friends and think before you vote. Throw away your political prejudice and walk up and vote for honest elections, for cheaper school books and to prevent railroads from exacting unjust charges from the poor people in order to increase their already enormous wealth.

WILDIE.

J. Fish, Henry Woods and Wm.
Hayes were in Louisville last week buying their fall and winter stock dry goods.

Wm. Fish, aged 72, who has been confined to his room for eight years and is well known by everybody in this county; who served the people in a public capacity for 21 years, united with the Christian church Sunday and was baptised in font at his son's, J. Fish's where he has been for some time.

There was a Republican speaking at the school house here Friday night. Judge Colyer and U.
S. Marshal Short were the principal orators. Subject: Goebel Election Law.

The oldest man in Kentucky lives in Jackson county. He is William Ramey, aged 102 years.
He was in Wildie last week, and walked the most of the way from home, a distance of twelve miles.

John Young Brown and his few followers reminds me of the days of Benedict Arnold, who was honored by the Americans with the command of West Point, but for greed or personal animosities, betrayed his people into the hands of the British, but was detected in the act and escaped to the enemy. He was never trusted by those he endeavored to aid. So with John Young Brown, he is trying to give over to the Republican party the State of Kentucky; the Democrats of the State once giving to him the exalted position of Governor. He will never be trusted by those he is trying to aid. (the Republicans.) nor his own party either.
Well can he say: I have dug my own political grave and in a very short time will be buried in oblivion.

COILS OF THE TRUST

Have In Their Embrace the Taxpayers of the Blue Grass State.

REPUBLICANS RESPONSIBLE.

Chinn School Book Bill Would Have Rescued Kentucky From the Grasp of the American Book Company.

The school book bill which was defeated in the last legislature by the solid Republican vote was intended to rescue Kentucky from the coils of the American Book company, of which Judge Beckner wrote this a few months ago:

"The Standard Oil company is the only trust in the world that equals the American Book company in the amount of capital invested and the unscrupulousness of the methods employed to control, without a rival, the business in which it is engaged."

Now Judge Beckner is found on the stump denouncing the Democrats who endeavored to secure the passage of the Chinn school bill. One unfortunate characteristic of the Judge is, that he fails to find anything good in what any other person attempts to do for the school children of the state. In his speech he says that the bill does not require the commissioners who are to select the school books to have any special qualifications for that work. In this he is mistaken. The bill says the commissioners—

"Shall be chosen with special reference to their scholarly and business qualifications, one member to be chosen from each appellate district and not more than three of them to belong to the same political party."

The judge says the present law is all right because he wrote it and put in a provision which requires each publisher who furnishes books for any county in the state to give a bond in the sum of $10,000 that he will sell his books as cheaply in Kentucky as in another state. Such a provision is found in the law, but for some reason or other of the law failed to have any effect could sue on the bond if it was violated, and to whom it should be covered should be paid. The book trust is not afraid of the law. To book trust is not afraid of the law. as that. It is well known that school books are sold in states where the law is similar to the Chinn school to 50 per cent less than in Kentucky. are sold in Kentucky. The book ever heard of the Republic? The general, who now is a member of suing on one of the bonds.

When Judge Beckner was asked what value then blank sheets of paper at your school books and you know that they are furnished by the American Book company, which Judge Beck-ner so justly denounced only a few months ago. Compare the price paid here with the prices paid in Indiana and the maximum prices fixed by the Chinn bill, and then determine by your votes whether you will trust the Democratic party or the Republican party to regulate the cost of your school books.

At Owensboro a few days ago Mr.
Taylor was shown a copy of Montgomery's History, which sells for 65 cents in Indiana and for $1 in Kentucky, and was asked to show if there was any difference between the two books, and he failed to refer to the matter in his speech. "The Republican orators and their aids can't meet the facts which the Democrats present in their fight against the book trust."

The Man Goebel.

If testimony is needed in support of the proposition that Goebel is the right sort of man for governor it can be found in abundance. He was Hardin's second choice, while Stone wanted Goebel to get the nomination if he couldn't get it for himself. John Young Brown (saving himself always) was for Goebel first. He told Senator Frazier of Shelby county that when Goebel made a man a promise, the man could go to sleep with absolute assurance that the promise would be kept to the very letter. On another occasion Brown said Goebel can write a better brief on one page of paper than most lawyers can write on 20 pages. Judge Pryor, one of the ablest and best men in the state, said when friends tried to get him to run for governor: "I am for Senator Goebel. I know him, and therefore I am for him. I would rather see him governor than be governor myself. Such a man is needed in Kentucky today."

A Pertinent Query.

When a Republican county judge in Jefferson county in 1896 refused to appoint a single Bryan Democrat to serve as an election officer, and the Bryan electors were not represented in more than 40 election precincts, and a Democratic city was reported to have given a Republican majority of 13,000, didn't the Democrats have the right to say something was wrong with the election law?

No Argument.

It is no argument against the new election law to say that under the old law the Democrats had a majority of the county judges. Under the old system the only way for the Democrats to have held their own would have been for the Democratic county judges to have acted as corruptly as the Republican county judges, and that they could not do.

FOR GOEBEL

Are the Members of the Democratic National Committee.

The eyes of Democrats all over the United States are turned toward Kentucky. The Democratic national committee, which met at Chicago Sept. 18, adopted the following resolutions:

"We are a loyal committee of the Democratic party in session at Chicago to consider the work of party organization preparatory to the campaign of 1900, sends greeting to the Democracy of the nation, with the assurance that the prospect of Democratic success next year grows brighter every day, and we have every reason for confidence as to the outcome. The great need now is party unity and thorough organization.
The committee appeals, therefore, to our party friends in all the states, and especially in the states where elections are to be held this year, to put aside all local differences wherever they exist and support the regular party ticket earnestly and enthusiastically, keeping always in view the great struggle of next year, and remembering that in unity there is strength and in division weakness. Especially do we appeal to the Kentucky Democracy to give loyal support to the regular ticket in that state, headed by Mr. Goebel, and thereby make a sure Democratic victory in the state and the return of ex-Senator Beckner to the senate of the United States."

Bryan's Suggestions.

In his speech delivered at Chicago Mr. Bryan, in discussing the Trust Evil, suggested one remedy. He said:
"The great trouble has been that while our platforms denounce corporations, corporations control the electors and place under obligations to them the men who are elected to enforce the law. Let me propose a remedy—not a remedy but a step, I think, in the right direction. Let the laws, state and national, make it a penal offense for any corporation to contribute to any campaign fund of any political party. You remember the testimony taken before a senate committee a few years ago, when the head of the sugar trust testified that the sugar trust made it its business to contribute to campaign funds, and when asked to which one it contributed, replied that it depended on circumstances. 'To which fund do you contribute in Massachusetts?' was asked. 'To the Republican fund.' 'To the fund in New York?' 'To the Republican fund.' 'To which fund in New Jersey?' 'Well, I have to look at the books; that is a doubtful state.' I mean to say that the remedy will be a complete one, but I believe when we prevent a corporation from contributing to campaign funds you have taken the right step in the right direction toward legislation."

This is a forecast of the speeches Mr.
Bryan will make in Kentucky during the last half of October. If such a law existed in Kentucky and could be applied to the L. & N. railroad, the state Democratic ticket would win by 100,000 majority.

Discrimination is Robbery.

Bourke Cockran in his speech at the trust meeting at Chicago said:

"The public official in control of any great public franchise who gives to any one man opportunities at the expense of another, robs that other party.
If not of the property in his possession, of the opportunity to acquire property."

It is this evil that the McChord railroad bill, indorsed by the Democratic convention, is intended to prevent. Mr.
Cockran suggested this remedy:

"An officer of a corporation granting a special favor to any person who has the right to use that possession on equal terms with everybody else ought to be held guilty of a serious felony.
No fines, no judicial rebukes, no denunciations from platforms, no legislative enactments declaring things are reprehensible will touch the subject, but a specific enactment that a special rate granted to any one not enjoyed by the other is a felony, and proper means toward punishing it will do something toward checking it, and, my friends, this is not an inconsiderate statement; it is a crime of the first magnitude."

Republicans Foster Trusts.

Trusts have grown to such ominous proportions during the last two years, and are creating so much alarm among the people in all the states, that the leading men are being called together in conference to devise some means to check growth of these unlawful combinations, and compel them to submit to the requirements of law. Mr. Bryan has been called upon to attend three such conferences within a month. The governors of the various states are being urged to call the legislatures together in special session to enact rigid anti-trust laws. The Democrats in the last Kentucky legislature introduced and championed such a law, and it would have passed but for the solid opposition of the Republican members.
Do you think in the face of that conduct that the Republican party in Kentucky can be relied upon to place a controlling hand on these unlawful combinations?

Every Republican in the legislature except one voted against the McChord railroad bill. Every Democrat voted for it. Two senators, elected as Democrats, changed their votes, after the bill was vetoed, and voted against it.
Those two men took part in the L. & & N. convention at Lexington and are now opposing the Democratic ticket.

During the winter of 1897 Mr.
James Reed, one of the leading citizens and merchants of Clay, Clay Co., W. Va., struck his leg against cake of ice in such a man-

came very much swollen and pained him so badly that he could not walk without crutches. He was treated by physicians, also used several kinds of liniment and two and a half gallons of whisky in bathing it but nothing gave any relief until he began using Chamberlain's Pain

This paper has had business dealings with Chamberlain & Co., manufacturers of Chamberlain's medicines at Des Moines, Iowa, and have always found them honest and fair in their dealings. In times like these the man with the hoe hunts the man with the ad. When money is easy people spend it freely. They also seek those places that hold out the most conspicuous inducement. Of course some few of them will find your store if you do not hang out your sign in the newspaper, but it will be like stumbling across an object in the dark. Many a buyer determines where he is going before he leaves home.

Charley Bronston has informed the Louisville Post that Goebel ought to be pulled off the ticket because he was friendly to Carlisle in the spring of 1896. This is the same Bronston who opposed the silver platform proposed in 1895 and voted to endorse both Cleveland and Carlisle. The same Bronston who bolted a Democratic caucus in 1898. The same Bronston who rose in his seat at the Louisville convention and called on Hardin's friends to nominate a sure enough man and not a "crippled Democrat," declaring that he knew Goebel, had seen him tried and knew him to be worthy of the office he sought. Charley, you make us tired—Hopkinsville Kentuckian.

VALID REASONS

Presented by Mr. Bryan For Supporting Goebel.

AN APPEAL TO KENTUCKIANS

Of the Democratic Persuasion to Fight the Common Enemy.

REPLY TO JOHN YOUNG BROWN

Kill the Bears and Then Tackle The Mosquitoes, Says He.

EVILS THREATENING THE REPUBLIC

While Not Denying the Right of Every Man to Vote as He Desires, He Points Out the Danger of Losing the Blue Grass State.

The tour through Kentucky of Democracy's fearless leader, Hon. William J. Bryan, was one of triumph. At every point where he was billed to speak great crowds turned out to greet him. Our gallant standard bearer, Hon. William Goebel, accompanied the Nebraska orator on his trip and was accorded magnificent ovations. Burning issues of the hour were expounded by Mr. Bryan to sympathetic throngs. The great orator at all places portrayed the necessity of united and harmonious action on the part of Kentucky Democrats at this time. National issues, he said, imperatively demand that they rally around the standard of William Goebel, thus sweeping the state from Republican misrule and insuring sweeping success of the people's cause in 1900.

When the distinguished party reached Louisville 25,000 enthusiastic people were in waiting at the barbecue. Both Colonel Bryan and Hon. William Goebel received flattering ovations and both responded by delivering ringing addresses. Mr. Bryan's speech in full follows:

BRYAN'S ADDRESS.

Mr. Chairman and Ladies and Gentlemen: I am glad that I have an opportunity to address so many of the good people of Kentucky on this occasion. My coming needs no explanation, no apology, I am here because I am still interested in the triumph of these principles set forth in the Chicago platform and reaffirmed in the platform adopted at Louisville. (Applause.)

When I arrived this morning a messenger handed me a letter and told me that it was from Ex-Governor John Young Brown. (Applause and hisses and cries of "Read it.") It asks me to answer certain questions. I came here to this state to answer those questions. (Applause.)

It states in the first place—well, it is not false. (Laughter.) The letter says: "If it be true that a secret written bargain was made prior to the late Louisville Music hall convention, between Messrs. Goebel and Bryan, and so forth, 'If it be true that a secret written bargain was made, and then he sets forth what he understands the written bargain to be, and then he asks you to execute it, then do you state the action of such substituted delegates could give Goebel the nomination of the Democratic party; was not such a contract fraudulent?' and then he asks whether the chairman of a sovereign body ought to entertain an appeal, and then if such things were done, as he claims, 'Is not this a menace to free government; and do you endorse the Goebel election law? If so, please explain why you advocate free government for the people of the Philippines and deny it to the people of Kentucky? Have you any plea save that of political expediency to justify submission by American citizens to the outrages above indicated. Very respectfully yours,

"JOHN YOUNG BROWN."
(Voices—Four it into him now.)
Replies to Brown.

Mr. Bryan—Let me say in the first place, that I did not come to Kentucky to investigate the details of a state convention and sit in judgment upon the things done in that convention. I did not come to this state to discuss the details of an election law. I came to this state to say, and I want to say it with emphasis, that if there was in that convention anything done that a Democrat does not think ought to have been done, I want to ask what remedy that Democrat is going to offer to remedy the wrong that he thinks was done. I ask of the Democrat who complains of that convention what his remedy is. Is it to elect a Republican governor and Republican officers in the state of Kentucky? (Cries of no, no.) If that is the remedy proposed, I want the Democrat who proposes the remedy to apply it with a full knowledge of the responsibility that he assumes. The man who attempts to correct a Democratic convention by electing a Republican governor assumes responsibility for all that the governor does after he has elected.

We are in a contest in which plutocracy is on the one side and Democracy is on the other side. We had a campaign in 1896, when the Republican party was compelled to raise from the corporations of the nation such a campaign fund as no party ever used before. Aye, more than that, a campaign fund that I think I may safely say was larger than all the campaign funds used by the Republican party from the days of Fremont to the days of Hanna.

We had that campaign. By the use of money and coercion the Republican party won. It has made not an advance, but a retreat even from the position that it occupied in 1896. It is worse today than it was then, and is applying to every question the same vicious principles that it applied to the question before the country in 1896.

We are on the eve of another national campaign—a campaign that will determine whether this is to be a government of the people, by the people and for the people, or a government of monopolies, by monopolies and for monopolies. (Applause.) You met in convention at Louisville; you endorsed the Chicago platform. The platform adopted at Louisville contained not only an endorsement of the Chicago platform, but it announced the party's position on the new questions that have arisen since; and that platform, among other things, endorsed the Goebel election law. There was no minority report in that convention. There was no fight on that platform, and when that convention adjourned, and the ticket was nominated, that ticket stood before the country as representative of that platform.

Do you want to know why I am here? I am here because I love the principles written in the Chicago platform. I believe it to be a new declaration of American independence, and I believe in those additional planks written in the Louisville platform against the trusts and against imperialism. I believe that the safety of this nation is imperiled by Republican policies, and because I believe that this nation's safety, its welfare and its institutions are in danger, therefore I come from my Nebraska home to warn you that if you fail to elect a Republican governor, you put it in his power to defeat those principles at a critical moment. (Applause.)

We have an election in 1900. We can not tell how large the majority will be in this state, but if you have a Republican counting machine that has no conscience, it doesn't matter how large the majority may be. We can not get it, no matter how large there were votes counted for the Republican ticket in this state that were never cast, and that I carried the state of Kentucky. (Applause.)

In 1900 there will be another election, and if you elect a Republican governor, then that Republican governor will be the man who must sign the certificates of election, which shall be the authority of the electors of this state, and if you elect a Republican governor, and that Republican governor stands in with the plutocratic authorities of the nation, that you will become responsible for the action of that Republican governor at a critical time, when the fate of a nation hangs in the balance. (Great applause.)

The constitution says that the governor shall have the power to fill vacancies that may occur in the senate when there is no legislature in session. The governor whom you elect this fall will occupy the chair for four years; and during those four years he will have the right to fill vacancies in the senate. If you elect a Republican governor he will stand ready to fill a vacancy with a Republican. If you elect Goebel he will be sure to fill the vacancy with a Democrat who stands on the Chicago platform. (Applause.)

Value of One Vote.
Sometimes the vote in the senate is close. Sometimes so close that a single vote will determine the passage of a bill. It is only a few months ago that the Bacon resolution came before the senate. No more important resolution has been before that body in recent years; and when the roll was called the vote on that resolution was a tie, and the Republican vice president cast the deciding vote, and voted no.

That resolution promised to the Philippines independence and self-government as soon as a stable government could be established, and because Kentucky was represented in the United States senate by a Republican, who was elected when Jo Blackburn ought to have been elected—(applause)—that resolution was defeated when it would have been carried if Jo Blackburn had been there.

I can not tell, you can not tell, no human being can tell what questions may arise, nor can we tell how close the vote may be on questions during the next few years. We hope to win a victory in 1900. We hope to take the executive office out of the hands of the Republicans and put it in the hands of a Democrat; but my friends, what good will it do us to elect a Democratic president, and then tie his hands with a Republican senate?

You tell me that you are interested in these questions that are now before the people. If you are, you dare not risk the fate of this republic and its decision in the senate—you dare not risk it in the hands of a Republican governor. It may be that just at the critical time when some question of great moment is before the senate, and when the senate is close, it may be that there will be a vacancy. Human life is uncertain. None of us know how soon the summons may come to us, but if you have a Republican there you know that every opportunity that presents itself will be improved by a Republican governor by the appointment of a Republican to the senate.

I am not willing to risk the fate of this government, I am not willing to risk the settlement of great questions in order to come down and settle the details of a state convention, where one Democrat was nominated and another was defeated. (Applause.) If there is a man here who feels that it is his duty to vote against the Goebel ticket, I want him to understand that when he does it he risks all these questions that he says he is interested in.

I appreciate the compliment paid to me by the Brown convention. It honored me for the presidency, and that is a compliment. It is a compliment to any man to be endorsed for the presidency, and I have had it suggested that because that convention endorsed me for the presidency, therefore I must stay in Nebraska and watch the people who support that ticket help elect a Republican governor in the state of Kentucky. (Applause.) If I were to do that I would be placing my own personal interests above the welfare of the country, and for the principles for which I fought. (Applause.)

A New Reason.
And I want to say to the Brown men that while I am glad to have them think well of me, I am glad to have them have confidence in me, I want to tell them that I am going to give them a new reason for loving me and having confidence in me. I am going to tell them that I would rather every one of them would vote against me and stand by the principles of Democracy, than stand by me and vote to elect a Republican governor. (Great and continued applause.) I have a higher ambition than being president of the United States. (Applause.)

I have an ambition that can be shared by every citizen. If I know my own heart, my highest ambition is to do all within my power to make this government so good that to be an American citizen will be greater than to be a king. (loud applause), and I want to show you my interest in Democratic principles by coming to Kentucky, and warning you of the risks you take when you array yourselves against a ticket that stands upon a platform that endorses the Chicago platform ideas. Let me repeat, I want to burn the words into your memories, that while you have a right to bolt, yet when you bolt you assume responsibility for all that your bolting does.

What has your bolting done in this state? It has divided Democracy into warring factions, and the Brown Democracy has spent its time, denouncing the Goebel Democracy, instead of denouncing the Republican party. (Great applause.)

My friends, there will be time enough when this election is over to adjust the equities between Democrats. Now we are trying to remedy the injustice that Republicanism is forcing upon the United States. (Applause.) This bolt in this state, this division of Democracy into warring factions, is the only hope of the Republican party in this state. The Republicans have no hope of winning over a united Democracy, but if they can divide Democracy, then they may hope for the triumph of a minority over a defeated majority. The only hope that they have of electing a Republican senator in this state is to divide Democracy into warring factions, and I want you to understand that if your bolting jeopardizes the election of Joseph C. S. Blackburn you become responsible for six years of Republicanism in the senate of the United States. (Applause.)

I believe in an income tax. I believe it is a just tax. I believe the present system by which we collect all the taxes to support the federal government, or practically all, in time of peace from tax upon consumption—I say I believe the system is unjust and inequitable, because it makes the poor pay more than their share and the rich pay less, and I want Jo Blackburn in the senate to vote for an amendment to the constitution that will specifically authorize an income tax, so that neither one judge nor nine judges can build a legal bulwark around the fortunes of the great. (loud applause.)

Blackburn's Vote Needed.

The Republican party is attempting to retro the greenbacks. The Democratic party is opposed to the retirement of the greenbacks, and I want Jo Blackburn in the senate to vote against the retirement of the greenbacks and a national bank currency, because the national banks are seeking to secure from the federal government the right to issue and control the paper money of the country; and I want Jo Blackburn there to stand for six years as a representative of the toiling and producing masses against the policy of the money-changers on this money question.

The question of the nation's standard money will be before the senate. Mr. McKinley sent a commission to Europe to get rid of the gold standard by international bimetalism, and the laboring men of England wanted England to help us, and the farmers of England wanted England to help us, but the bankers of London did not want England to help us, and the bankers controlled the English government, and the English government controlled the policy of Europe, and Europe, through the Republican party, is controlling the policy of the United States, and I want Jo Blackburn in the United States senate to vote for an American financial policy for the American people. (loud applause.)

The trust question will come before that senate. The trusts have grown up with greater rapidity during the last two years than ever before, and they seek now to gather all the great industries into the hands of a few men, where a few men can fix the price of all that you buy, fix the price of all the raw material that you sell, and fix the wages paid to those who convert raw material into finished products. You can not annihilate the trusts until the senate is on our side, and I want Jo Blackburn in the United States senate to vote on every occasion for the annihilation of the trusts and the monopoly in private hands.

We have another question. The Republican party desires an increase in the standing army. Mr. McKinley asked congress to raise the army from 25,000 men to 100,000, and the Republican house of representatives, prompt to do the bidding of a Republican president, voted for a bill that raised the army to 100,000, and that question is still before the country, because that bill was only defeated by a combination of Democrats, Populists and silver Republicans in the senate.

Want a Larger Army.

The president and the Republican party still want a large standing army. I believe that a large standing army would be not only a burden to the American people but would be a menace to the peace of the world. If you want to have the peace of the world, you go to France and witness the proceedings of the Dreyfus trial. There was an innocent man convicted because the army demanded it, and the president had to pardon him because the conviction outraged the sense of justice throughout the civilized world.

And now, when we have pressing upon us this demand for a large standing army, this measure that will not only burden the taxpayers, but menace American liberty, we are asked to stop and settle the details of a state convention before we relieve this nation from this threatened evil.

The Republican party has gone a step further. It is endorsing a colonial policy. It is endorsing the doctrine of empire. Mr. McKinley, in his speech at Minneapolis the other day, said that he had no doubt that we would permanently hold the Philippine islands; he had no doubt that they would prove a great blessing to us, and then he used the sentence to which I want to call your attention: "That congress will provide for them a government which will bring them blessings, which will promote their material interests as well as advance their people in the path of civilization and intelligence, I confidently believe."

Just change that sentence a little. In the place of "congress" put "parliament," and after "them" put "the colonists," and you have a sentence that would have expressed the confident belief of King George when he rebelled from the mother country. (Applause.) "King George confidently believed that parliament would provide for the colonists a government which would bring them blessings, and which would promote their material interests as well as advance their people in the path of civilization and intelligence." Change the sentence in another way, and in the place of "congress" put "cortes," and after "them" put "Cubans," and you will have a sentence that would fit the Spanish monarch when this nation interfered to bring liberty to the people of Cuba. There is a sentence that shows a clear departure from the principles written in the Declaration of Independence; and if the people of this state this fall vote the Republican ticket, or so vote as to aid in the election of a Republican ticket, the election this fall will be regarded as an endorsement of the principles now actuating the Republican party. It will be a declaration of approval of the president's imperial policy.

I was asked in this letter how I could favor a convention resting upon force and yet oppose imperialism in the Philippine islands. Well, my friends, I can shoot before I commence to fight mosquitoes. (Laughter and applause.) If my horse is attacked by two kinds of wild beasts, I will try first to kill the most dangerous one, and when I have him out of the way I will take care of the less dangerous one. (Applause.)

Do you tell me that that Louisville convention resolved its authority from force? You are here in this state and can remedy that hereafter; but when this nation announces before the world that it has abandoned the principles of a republic and endorses the principles of empire, you will find it more difficult to retrace your steps.

And then I want to ask how any man who favors an imperial policy in the Philippine islands can find any fault with the application of force anywhere at home or abroad. (Laughter and applause.)

Danger of Imperialism.
I believe that the Republican policy of imperialism is a danger and a menace to our principles of government, and I believe that now is the time when the American people must speak out against the doctrine of imperialism. Do you thirst for the glories of an empire? I point you to the history of this republic for the last 100 years, and tell you I would not trade the glory of this republic for the glory of all the empires that have risen and fallen since time began. (Applause.)

If you defend imperialism on the ground that it will pay, I tell you, you can not settle great questions upon that basis; but if you could, you could not prove that materialism would be beneficial to the mass of the people. You can not afford to drag the question of the nation's policy down to the low basis of dollars and cents; neither can you afford to establish the doctrine that this nation is going to go forth and civilize with the cannon and proselyte with the sword. (Applause.)

Do not lay this war of conquest upon the Almighty. A Republican senator said that the Lord was in it, that He opened the door of the Philippine islands, pushed us in and shut the door. (Laughter.) Who told him so? Who has authority to reveal the plans of the Almighty?

A Voice—Mark Hanna.
Mr. Bryan—Who has authority to tell us that God has commanded us to engage in a war of conquest? I believe in God. I believe in His influence over the thoughts and purposes of men, but you can not undertake to blame God for every purpose that every man has, or for every purpose that every man has. If I feel in my heart an impulse to take money out of my own pocket and give it to some one in distress, I will trace the impulse to God; but if I feel in my heart an impulse to put my hand into somebody else's pocket, and get his money for my use, I will not lay it on the Almighty. (Laughter and applause.) There is another old fellow that I will lay it on. (Laughter and applause.)

I am afraid the Republican party has adopted the philosophy of the colored man of whom I once read who was very fond of chicken, but not always ready to do the thing of the commandments. He saw last when he prayed the Lord to send a chicken to him the Lord seldom did it; but when he prayed the Lord to send him after a chicken, he nearly always got it. (Laughter and applause.) I believe the Republican party has prayed the Lord to send it after a chicken (laughter), and it is trying now to cover up greed and avarice with the hypocrisy that it is being done for the welfare of the people of the Philippine islands.

Christ Before Pilate.
I read a sermon not long ago that impressed me much. I would that every Christian might read that sermon. The minister, who was Mr. Brown of Rochester, N. Y., took this text, or passage, which describes the scene where Christ was before Pilate. Pilate said to Christ: "Knowest thou not that I have power to release thee or to put thee to death," and taking that text the minister contrasted force and love. Pilate represented force. Behind him was the Roman government, the Roman legions and Caesar himself. Before him, helpless and alone, stood Christ preaching the gospel of love, and force triumphed.

They nailed him to a tree, and those who believed in brute force stood around, mocked and jeered, and said: "He is dead," and then the minister pointed out how from that day the power of Caesar waned and the power of Christ increased, and in a few centuries the Roman government was gone and its legions forgotten, while the followers of Christ increased with each passing year, until millions now take His name with reverence upon their lips, and then the minister said that in this nation force and love meet face to face, and that we are to decide whether this nation would stand before the world as a Pilate, representing brute force, or as a Christ, representing the uplifting power of love.

I believe he spoke the truth. I believe that this nation today must decide whether it is going to be a great moral force, rising and drawing all men unto it, or whether it is going to sink to the low level of the empires of the Old World.

Let me give you an illustration of it. While the nation held aloft this doctrine of self-government and the principles of a republic, it dared to express its sympathy with struggling mankind everywhere. When Greece was struggling for her liberty, Daniel Webster thundered out the sympathy of the American people; and when the Cubans were fighting to be free, congress heard their cries and promised succor and relief; but today, in far-away Africa, in the Dutch republic, the Boers are offering up their life's blood in defense of their right to govern themselves, and this great nation stands with its hands tied and its mouth gagged, and dare not offer one word of sympathy. (Applause.)

Dare Not Sympathize With Boers.
What a spectacle, the greatest republic in all times afraid to say a word, and why? Because, if we expressed our sympathy with the Boers, England would cable back, "What is the matter with the Philippines?" (Laughter and applause.)

I believe in Jefferson's doctrine of friendly relations with all nations and entangling alliances with none. I am as much an Anglo-Saxon as the average man. I am part Irish, part English and part Scotch, but I am all American. I appreciate the friendship of Great Britain. I want this nation to have the friendship of every nation. But I am not willing that this nation shall purchase the friendship of any nation by being silent when people are struggling for the right to govern themselves. (Applause.) I would rather have the love of those few Boers fighting for the right to govern themselves than to have the smiles of an English aristocracy trying to crush out liberty. (loud applause.)

Here are the questions that are pressing upon the American people. Here are the issues upon whose settlement depends this nation's position throughout the world. We have been a republic. Our light has been shed abroad, and it has reached into the dark corners of the earth. Shall this light go out? Shall we abandon the foundation of the republic and build upon the shifting sands upon which monarchy and empire rest? And now when the Democratic party is engaged in a death grapple with the powers of darkness, we are asked to stop in the midst of the fight to settle the details of a state convention. (loud applause.) I believe in the principles for which Democracy stands. I believe they are the hope not only of the American people, but of the world. You tell me you want the American flag to be feared. Oh, friends, I want that flag to be loved by every human being. (Cheers.) You want men to bow their heads in fear of it.

I want them to lift their faces toward it, and see in the stars and stripes the inspiration and the hope that will lead them to battle on, and give life itself, rather than sacrifice that which makes life valuable—liberty and the right to pursue their happiness unmolested. (Applause.)

I come to Kentucky to tell the Democrats of Kentucky that the nation is looking on. It is watching to see whether Kentucky is to be with us or against us in the next great fight. In 1897 you gave Shackelford 18,000 majority, and if this year you elect a Republican governor you will excite bonfires in the Republican ranks all over this nation. If you elect Goebel and those with him on the ticket, and then send Jo Blackburn to the United States senate, there will be a hurrah in the Democratic ranks from the Atlantic to the Pacific and from the lakes to the gulf. (loud applause.)

to him the Lord seldom did it; but when he prayed the Lord to send him after a chicken, he nearly always got it. (Laughter and applause.) I believe the Republican party has prayed the Lord to send it after a chicken (laughter), and it is trying now to cover up greed and avarice with the hypocrisy that it is being done for the welfare of the people of the Philippine islands.

An Extraordinary Chance for a Bright Man to Secure a Steady Position the Year Around in Mt. Vernon and Vicinity—

DEAR EDITOR:—We want a clothing salesman to take orders for our mens custom made-to-measure suits, pants, overcoats and ulsters in Mt. Vernon and adjoining towns and country. Any good, bright man, especially if he had experience as a salesman in a store, agricultural implement house or where he comes in contact with people, as solicitor for tailoring insurance, nursery stock or other goods can make big money with our line the year round; but any good bright man even without previous experience, can make $150.
00 a month and expenses with the big outfit we furnish him and the opportunity we give him if he will devote his time to work; or, if we can get a good man in Mt. Vernon whose time partly taken up with other work and who can devote his spare time to our line, even if an hour or so a day, he will do exceedingly well with our agency. We have men in real estate, loan, legal, lumber, grain, railroad, express, and other business who give their spare time to our line with big results.
No experience is absolutely necessary, no capital samples and stationery; have no commission plan no house-to-house canvass, no catchy conditions, but offer a rare opportunity for some man in vicinity to secure high grade employment at big wages.

We are the largest tailors in America. We make to measure over 300,000 suits annually. We occupy entire one of the largest business blocks in Chicago. We refer you to the Corn Exchange National Bank in Chicago any express or railroad company in Chicago any resident of this city. We buy our cloth direct from the largest European and American mills, we operate the most extensive and economic custom tailoring plant in existence, suits and overcoats to from $5.00 to $18.00 (mostly $5.00 to $10), prices so low that nearly everybody will be glad to have their garments made to measure, and will give our agent their orders.

We will furnish a good agent a large and handsomely bound book containing large cloth samples of our entire line of suits, pantaloons, overcoats, etc., a book which costs us several dollars; also fine colored shon plates, tape measure, business cards, advertising matter and a rubber stamp with name and address and pad complete, stationery also an instruction book, which makes it easy for anyone to take orders and conduct a profitable business. We will also furnish net confidential price list. Agent can take orders and send them to us and and we will make the garments within five days and send direct to agent's customer by express C. O.
D., subject to examination and approval, collect the agent's full selling price and every week we will send the agent our check for all his profit. The agent need collect no money and deliver no goods, simply go on taking orders at a liberal profit. We deliver the goods collect all the money and every week promptly send him in one round check his full profit for the week, and nearly all of our agents get a check from us of at least $40 every week of the year.

We will make no charge for the book and complete outfit but as the outfit costs us several dollars, it is necessary to protect ourselves against anyone who would impose upon us by sending for the outfit with no intention of working, but merely out of idle curiosity therefore we will ask a guarantee of good faith on the part of reader who decides to take up this work that he cut this article out and mail to us with the understanding that the big book and complete outfit will be sent to him by express, he to pay the express agent $1.00 and express charges for the outfit with the distinct understanding that we will

S. W. DAVIS.

During the winter of 1897 Mr.
James Reed, one of the leading
citizens and merchants of Clay, Clay Co., W. Va., struck his leg
against cake of ice in such a manner as to bruise it severely. It be-
without crutches. He was treated
by physicians, also used several
but nothing gave any relief until he
began using Chamberlain's Pain Balm. This brought almost a complete cure in a week's time and he believes that had he not used this remedy his leg would have had to be amputated. Pain Balm is unequalled for sprains, bruises and rheumatism. For sale by Theo.

Look in Your Mirror

Do you see sparkling eyes, a healthy, tinted skin, a sweet expression and a graceful form? These attractions are the result of good health. If they are absent, there is nearly always some disorder of the distinctly feminine organs present. Healthy menstrual organs mean health and beauty everywhere.

McELREE'S

Wine of Cardui

makes women beautiful and healthy.
It strikes at the root of all their trouble. There is no menstrual disorder, ache or pain which it will not cure. It is for the budding girl, the busy wife and the matron approaching the change of life. At every trying crisis in a woman's life it brings health, strength and happiness. It costs $1.00 of medicine dealers.
